

CheckUP With Doctor Giraffe

The first patient is an ELEPHANT.
Doctor Giraffe must check his EARS
to make sure there's no problem and that they can HEAR.

Doctor Giraffe
LIFTS UP
the ears and looks
deep INSIDE.
“Your ears are both fine.
Lift your TRUNK
with PRIDE.”

Next in line is a MONKEY.

Doctor Giraffe checks
his HEART.
The STETHOSCOPE
is cold and the monkey
gives a start.

“Try to relax.
Your HEARTBEAT is strong.”
The monkey was so happy,
he started to SING a SONG.

The next patient
is a LION CUB
who needs an INJECTION.

It is a VACCINE to prevent an infection.

Doctor Giraffe is gentle.

“It is just a SMALL STING.”

The lion was so
SO BRAVE and barely felt a thing.

Then into
the exam room,
slithered a SNAKE.
Doctor Giraffe held a THERMOMETER, her TEMPERATURE to take.

“Put this in your mouth
and give me a hiss.
Your temperature is PERFECT.
You’re a HEALTHY
little miss.”

A baby IGUANA
is the last
PATIENT today.
“Open your mouth
and say AHHH,”
the doctor does say.

He puts a DEPRESSOR
on the young lizard's TONGUE.

“You are a GOOD
PATIENT for someone so young.”
